HONGKONG, THURSDAY, DEC. 10, 1903.

SIR HENRY BLAKE.

The cold reception accorded Sir Henry and Lady Blake upon their arrival at Penang en route to Colombo has been commented upon by the Straits Echo, which says, "one would naturally have supposed that a Colonial Governor would have been met by some official, and had a carriage placed at his disposal during his short stay in port. Such, however, was not the case. Only Capt. MacIntyre, the Harbour Master, of all our numerous officials, was there to receive the distinguished passenger, and Sir Henry and Lady Blake saw what they wished to of Penang from a humble public risksha. It may not have been the particular duty of any official to have received them, but however that may be, we think the 'chilly reception' does Penang little credit." As we recently pointed out in our columns when Sir Henry and Lady Blake arrived at Singapore, a number of Ceylonese residents were at the wharf to greet the new Governor of the Colony. Furthermore, when the Alma sailed there was a similar gathering of Ceylonese to wish the distinguished passengers farewell, and before the ship left Miss Sibyl Gunatillaka, daughter of the P. & O. Company's wharf manager, who belongs to Ceylon, presented a handsome bouquet to Lady Blake, who expressed much pleasure at receiving the gift. It seems curious that no such welcome was accorded our late Governor by the Ceylonese residents of Penang and the Province, to say nothing of the lack of courtesy on the part of the civil officials of that port.

SIR FRANCIS LOVELL'S MISSION.

The many subscribers in Hongkong to the fund for enlarging and endowing the London School of Tropical Medicine, will have been interested at the announcement made in these columns several weeks since, that Sir Francis Lovell, C.M.G., is leaving England in the middle of this month on a second mission on behalf of the School. It will be remembered that in May of last year Dr. Francis Clark, our Medical Officer of Health, who is now absent from the Colony on leave, gave a dinner at which members of the medical profession were invited to meet Sir Francis Lovell and hear from him the details of his first mission to the Far East. Since then the School has been doubled in size, the pupils have correspondingly increased, and the equipment of the institution has in many directions been improved upon. Indeed, that it has amply justified its foundation may be judged from the fact that, although barely three years have elapsed since its inauguration, it is now almost self-supporting, and funds are required to cover the cost of the increased accommodation. A great deal remains yet to be done in regard to equipment, and an unlimited field of research lies open to investigation. But we know that mere bricks and mortar will not benefit humanity, and in order that the wherewithal to people the commodious school with men engaged in research may be obtained Sir Francis Lovell is undertaking his mission on behalf of education in tropical diseases. Owing to the claims of several other funds at the time when Sir Francis was first in the East the response was not so hearty as anticipated, some $3,330 only being raised. The Government, however, has promised an annual subscription of £100 to date from the 1st January last, and it is hoped that subscriptions will be considerably augmented from the result of the second mission. Generous as was the last response, the claim upon residents in warm climates was not at that time what it is now. Previously the claim was largely for a more local and limited purpose, namely, the erection of school buildings in London; now the object is to benefit mankind in tropical countries by the study of diseases peculiar to these climates. In our own Colony and in the various treaty ports in China, there are many of our fellow-subjects, who take a broad and liberal view of educational matters. There are many more, however, ready and willing to help. If the excellent purpose and great good likely to follow a careful investigation of such diseases, as beri-beri, plague, malaria, dysentery, &c., were explained to them. It is these diseases, and such as these, that hamper traffic, and paralyse shipping industries, through the havoc and loss of life they cause amongst native labourers.

REAR-Admiral R. B. Bradford, Chief of the Bureau of Equipment of the Navy Department at Washington, in his annual report to Secretary Moody in reference to the Philippines, says that with the exception of ports on this archipelago which have been surveyed since its occupation by the United States, there is scarcely a mile of water expanse so charted that it may be navigated with complete confidence. Recommendation is made that in future these surveys be prosecuted with vigour.

THE War Office has issued an order that in the event of any holder of the Victoria Cross selling or losing it he will forfeit the grant of £10 which now goes with the cross. That such an order should be necessary points to a rather unsatisfactory position of affairs. It is not likely that any holder of the Victoria Cross would part with it except in case of extreme necessity, but apparently men who have won the highest distinction for courage that the services can bestow are compelled to part with it. The actual value of the medal is slight, but owing to its associations sometimes high prices are paid for it at sales.

ONE of the banks at Penang objects, it is said, to accept deposits in small silver, the reason given being that already the bank is overstocked having no less than a lakh deposited there. At the present time, says the Penang Gazette, the bazaar is flooded with small silver which is at a discount. The only available remedy for the public appears to be to pay the silver change into the Treasury, obtain a Government receipt, and pay that receipt into the bank as cash. But it seems that the Government decline to take back silver in the Treasury; possibly their vaults also are overstocked, and the result of this action is that an awkward and serious state of affairs is likely to follow.

AUSTEN Chamberlain, Mr. Ritchie's successor in the custodianship of the national finances, is forty, and still unmarried in the matrimonial sense of the phrase. His father, who received only a commercial education, confessed in one of his speeches that he had little Latin and less Greek; but that candid avowal can never be made by his son Austen, who started at Rugby, graduated at Trinity College, Cambridge, and received his finishing educational touches in Berlin and Paris. In features, eye-glass, style of speech, and cut of clothes, he is a close copy of his father. His parliamentary career covers only eleven years, so that his promotion has been exceptionally rapid. He has been civil lord of the admiralty, secretary to the treasury, postmaster-general.

THE Admiralty are engaged at present in modernising several war vessels. Six vessels which, though powerful in themselves, do not come up to the requirements of the Chief Constructor have been taken in hand, and will be brought up to the standard which is considered essential. It is hoped that these six vessels will soon be in commission.

COMPULSORY elementary education has been introduced, says the Perak Pioneer, into the Province Wellesley with effect from 1st January, 1904, in virtue of a notification issued under "The School Attendance Ordinance of 1901." It has been ordered that the parent or person having the actual custody of any male child between the ages of seven and twelve shall be responsible for the regular attendance of such child at a school where he could receive instruction in his own language.

REGARDING cement in the East, Indian Engineering says:—The question of obtaining a good and cheap cement is exercising engineers in India and the East generally. Foreign competition, especially Belgian and German, is most feared by English and Indian manufacturers, for owing to cheapness of labour and high scientific attainments, which are the principal factors in the manufacture of the foreign article, it can be placed on the open market at a lower price and in the same quality as the English and local output. It therefore requires a very sturdy and indeed quixotic patriotism to reject foreign cement.

THE Bingo Dockyard Co., Limited, whose yards and works are on the island of Inno in the Inland Sea, not far from Onomichi, opened a new dock on Sunday last, says the Kobe Herald of December 1. The site of this dock is in the south-eastern end of Innosshima, and about twelve miles from the town of Onomichi and nearly one hundred from Kobe. The dock just completed is 440 feet in length, 395 feet on the sill, with a width of 57 feet on top and 52 feet at the bottom. The height of the dock is 35 ft. 6 in. It can be pumped dry in four hours. The company is contemplating the construction of an other smaller dock 240 feet in length.

A BIG CLAIM.

BEFORE THE COURT.

The case of Tso Cheung Shi, a widow, residing at 162 Queen's Road West, suing as executrix of Tso Heung Po, deceased, against To Shing, a trader, of 22 Peel Street, to recover the sum of $28,000 money received, and $12,000 damages, came on for hearing before the Chief Justice (Sir W. M. Goodman) at the Supreme Court this morning.

The Hon. H. E. Pollock, K.C., instructed by Mr. F. B. L. Bowley, appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. W. M. Slade, instructed by Mr. C. E. H. Beavis, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, represented the defendant.

At the outset, Mr. Slade said it was with great regret that he must make a further application for an adjournment in order to enable him to obtain certain documents regarding which a telegram had been received saying they had been sent from Hanoi. They were not yet to hand and defendant did not know what they were; but a vast number of very material documents were at Hanoi. The telegram simply stated "Sent," in reply to an application for certain documents. It was impossible to say what documents had been submitted from there; but many of them were very material in a case which was, in all probability, being heard at Hanoi that day. At least, he believed a telegram had been received stating that such was the case. He also mentioned that the defence had not yet received from the other side copies of material documents which they had in their possession. Some of the documents had only come into his possession during the past half hour, while, on the other hand, he (Mr. Slade), had been unable to hand the plaintiff documents. Under the circumstances he thought it would be in the interest of justice, for the purpose of enabling them to arrive at the truth, if an adjournment was granted.

The Chief Justice:—Mr. Pollock, what do you say?

Hon. Pollock:—I am instructed, my Lord, that eight or nine months ago—

His Lordship:—Do you consent?

Hon. Pollock:—No, my Lord.

His Lordship:—Then I shall not grant any adjournment. I have already had this matter before me very fully. The case was originally set down in August; then it was postponed until November, when another application was made after I had arranged everything and given up the time for the case which I should otherwise have appropriated for other cases. A further application was made and I adjourned the case until the 10th December, intimating that in nearly every case that had come on lately, at the last minute, some one applied for an adjournment. Only two days ago I heard a summons on this very matter as to whether there should be an adjournment, and it was decided that there should not be one both parties consenting.

Mr. Slade pointed out the position that he then took up, and still adhered to was that the defendant had done and was still doing everything possible to bring the case on.

His Lordship:—I understood you to say you did not press the summons.

Mr. Slade:—Yes, because we believed that certain documents would come into our possession which would enable us to win this case.

THE Beer to drink in the tropics is the Beer made in the tropics—SAN MIGUEL.

His Lordship:—Now, the case is fixed for this morning. There have been three applications already, and you have had abundant time to get all the documents you needed.

Mr. Slade:—I am afraid your Lordship is misapprehending me.

His Lordship:—I know perfectly well. Mr. Henry Piry seems to have some litigation down there which he thinks more important than the litigation here. I am not going to have this Court made a convenience for anybody who chooses to come and get me to sit here. I am not going to adjourn this case. I am going to hear it.

Mr. Slade pointed out that the original documents wanted were really in use in the Court at Hanoi where a case was actually being heard at present in which they were being used.

Further argument ensued, but his Lordship declined to adjourn the case.

Hon. Pollock then addressed the Court pointing out that the plaintiff was simply and solely asking that the defendant should pay damages for failure to carry out a contract which he entered into with the deceased husband of the plaintiff, Tsoi Heung Po, by name. According to the statement of claim, which he handed into Court, on or about the 10th February, 1901, the defendant entered into a verbal agreement with Chan Yuk Shang whereby he agreed to build, complete, and equip a paddle-wheel steamship within nine months from that date for the price of $48,000; and also, on or about the 7th April, 1901, defendant entered into a second verbal agreement to build, complete and equip a second steamship within eight months from that date, for the price of $30,000. His case rested entirely upon written documents, the interpretation of which was perfectly clear. The first, and most important, in fact one of the fundamental documents on which the case rested, was an agreement, dated 9th October, 1901, and although there was no interpretation clause in it, as a matter of fact he would be in a position to prove that both the one in question, and another, dated in May 1902, were interpreted to the defendant by Yam Kwan Un, the interpreter in the office of Messrs. Denny's and Bowley. The only question to be fought out in respect of the first was as to the proper legal construction to be placed upon it. The parties, not by themselves, but by going to a solicitor, had the contract reduced to a formal legal document, and they must stand or fall by what was in the document. The plaintiff was before his Lordship to ask for damages because the agreement had not been carried out, and contended that the document could have only one meaning, viz., that Tsoi Heung Po was entitled, on the proper payments being made, to the delivery of the steam launch. That is to say, Tsoi Heung Po, and he alone, was the person entitled to go to the defendant and say, "Everything has been accomplished as regards payment; hand over the launches."

The first launch was not handed over directly to Tsoi Heung Po, but to his nine nieces, while regarding the second there was a difficulty and it was not handed over. While plaintiff was actually applying through the solicitors to have the launch equipped and finished off, the boat was spirited away up to Canton, and certain security was ordered.

His Lordship:—es, $30,000 security was ordered.

Hon. Pollock, continuing, said it was about as clear an agreement as could be. At the end, the contract showed, in addition to the $40,000, which defendant received in various sums on account, there was also paid over $15,000 on account of the balance, and there only remained $14,000 outstanding. Therefore, the position was that the defendant was bound to deliver the launches to Tsoi Heung Po upon receipt of the further sum of $14,000. From the document it was quite clear defendant had broken the contract. It was not disputed apparently in the answer that one of the launches was taken out of the jurisdiction of the Court, and plaintiff maintained that by taking it away and failing to deliver it to the plaintiff, the legal personal representative of Tsoi Heung Po, he had broken the contract and must pay damages, the value of the launch.

Evidence was then called, the first witness being Yam Kwan Un, interpreter in the office of Messrs. Denny's and Bowley, who deposed to having seen the agreement signed in the presence of Mr. Denny's, and interpreting it clause by clause. He was cross-examined at great length and the case was adjourned.

VICE-ADMIRAL BAYLE

IN HONGKONG.

The Commander-in-Chief of France's naval forces in the Far East, Vice-Admiral Bayle, who arrived yesterday on the flagship Montcalm, came on shore this morning to pay the customary official visit. Punctually at 10 o'clock the Admiral's gig, towed by a steam-pinnace from the Montcalm, came alongside Blake Pier. A guard of honour, consisting of 50 men of the Sherwood Foresters, with drums and colours, under command of Lieutenant Rose, was in attendance, and M. Liebert, Consul for France, in full uniform with decorations, met the Admiral at the landing-stage. The following officers accompanied the French Commander-in-chief: Capitaine de Vaisseau Cros, in command of the Montcalm; Capitaine de Vaisseau Darigue de Fourné, chief of the staff; Lieutenant de Vaisseau de Ruille, flag-officer; and Aspirant A. Marquis. As the distinguished visitor and his suite passed before the guard of honour, he was saluted by the troops and colours, the band playing a few bars of a Royal March. The Admiral and his staff proceeded to Government House and was received by H.E. the Officer Administering the Government; visits being afterwards paid to the O. C. G. H. E. Major-General Villiers (Hon. C. B.), and to the French Consul.

Vice-Admiral Bayle accompanied by M. Liebert and several officers from the flagship will leave this evening for Saigon and return to Hongkong in three or four days' time.

HONGKONG AND NETHERLANDS-INDIA.

Mr. F. J. Haver Dierce, Consul-General of Netherlands-India, kindly informs us that the Governor-General of Netherlands-India has decreed that all ships or vessels arriving from Hongkong or having called at this port, are subject in Netherlands-India to a quarantine of ten days from the date of departure from this port or since the last case of plague on board. Importation is temporarily prohibited of animal refuse, claws and hoofs, animal or human hair and bristles, hides which are untanned and which are salted or cured with arsenic, raw wool and rags, bags or sacks which have already been used, coming from Hongkong or transhipped at this port.

TIENTSIN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

November 27th.

There has been but little stirring in Chinese circles of late. Russian ascendancy has apparently reassured itself in Peking inasmuch as all talk of fighting the northern neighbour has fizzled out in the face of declaration from two officials that China could not possibly hold their ground for more than a month at the outside. The desire to quit Peking and establish the Court and Government in Hsianfu is, however, keener than ever, and unless some very strong pressure is brought to bear upon the Empress Dowager, the Court will perform the vanishing act again some day. Fan Tseng-shiang, the Provincial Judge of Shanai, has been hastily created Governor, Hsianfu has been made a prefectural city, and Fan Tseng-shiang has been instructed to lose no time in preparing the Palace and getting everything in for any emergency.

Meanwhile the Russians are strengthening their position in southern Manchuria having re-occupied Hai-cheng, a large city on the line about 30 miles north-east of Newchwang, which move was made on the 19th inst. They are now trying to purchase a large tract of land there, and in the case of poor owners there is no difficulty, but some of the wealthier ones object, and there has been some excitement in the place in consequence as the Russians endeavour to bring pressure on them through the officials. In Moukden the inevitable has been more or less accepted, and things are quiet. Some of the yamens have been changed almost out of recognition as Chinese officers, and big guns are mounted on the walls, while small Russian flags are flown over most of the doors, but these, and the yamen flags are not visible from the rail which is three miles off, hence the report that no Russian flags are flying over Moukden brought by some foreign travellers through. Telegraphic intercourse with Peking is re-established, but the Chinese do not trust to it after their late experience in the matter of altered and delayed messages. They send their dispatches to Peking by messengers who get out of the city disguised as beggars, as no one is allowed to go in and out of the city with luggage, or without being searched, as the Russians strongly discourage the residents running away. Quite a number have nevertheless managed to make their escape with their families as at night, and Peking is full of the refugees.

Viceroy Yuan is not going up to Peking for the birthday celebrations, having apparently obtained orders of permission to pay his respects to the Dowager through the medium of a foreign reception in Tientsin, and residents are invited to present themselves at the yamen between 11 and 1 to-morrow.

There has been quite a little stir in the community lately over a wordy war between the local newspapers, which has been all the more sensational because it is quite alien to the policy of the Peking and Tientsin Times to indulge in journalistic bickering, and every one was startled a few days ago when it suddenly published a correspondence which tended to show a telegram belonging to that journal had been delivered to the China Times and retained by that office. The exchange of civilities between the papers, as you will probably have seen, has been brisk in consequence, but there is little doubt felt in Tientsin that the Peking and Tientsin Times was amply justified in the unusual course it adopted.

Mr. Edmund Cousins, for 50 years the local agent of the Princely House, and formerly one of the pivots on which the municipal well-being of Tientsin hinged, has again left Tientsin for home, ostensibly for good, but it is believed he will eventually turn up here again and he will always be welcomed here, for he is one of those men that any community is the better for having. A large and representative crowd saw him off at the station. The train was much delayed because a quantity of oil sent to the Lu Han line had leaked in transit, whether in consequence of being broached or not is not stated.

The "Undesirable Alien" Question.

London, 8th December.

Mr. Akers Douglas, speaking at Shore-ditch, said it would be irregular to anticipate any announcement in the King's speech to Parliament; all he would do was to give assurances that the question of undesirable Aliens was receiving the very careful consideration of the Government which had every desire to find a speedy remedy.

American Sympathy With Japan.

London, 30th November.

The Washington correspondent of The Times asserts that American sympathies are entirely with Japan in the present crisis and he adds that the United States Government are endeavouring to induce Russia to fulfil the promises which she has repeatedly given in regard to the evacuation of Manchuria.

SULTAN MAKES FURTHER MILITARY ARRANGEMENTS.

London, 30th November.

The Sultan of Turkey has prolonged the term of service in the case of the Nizam Infantry regiments to three years, by which arrangement he increases the strength of the army by a quarter of a million men.

Russia and Japan.

London, 28th November.

Statements are being assiduously circulated in St. Petersburg to the effect that Japan has recognised the predominance of Russian interests in Manchuria.

The Russians declare that the terms of an agreement have been tentatively settled, whereby Japan is contented to leave questions regarding the ultimate recognition of the integrity of Chinese sovereignty in abeyance.

These assertions are being authoritatively contradicted here.

Russia has already despatched three-fourths of her fleet to Asiatic waters, and practically nothing now remains of Russia's naval strength in European waters.

Trains bound eastward along the Siberian Railway are still reported to be filled with troops and munitions of war.

THE LAUNCH OF THE JAPANESE RIVER GUNBOAT "SUMIDA."

The launch of the Japanese river gunboat Sumida, from the International Dock, Shanghai, took place on the 5th inst. under the most brilliant weather and in the presence of a large number of people. The guests were received by a Chinese guard of honour from the Hai-chi, who presented a smart appearance. As the gunboat glided down to the water, Mrs. Odagiri gracefully broke the bottle of champagne over her bow, and christened her Sumida, after a river in Japan. After the christening Mr. Odagiri called out for three cheers to the Emperor of Japan. Then all repaired to the refreshment room where Mr. Prentice drank to the success of the Sumida. Mr. Odagiri returned thanks and drank the health of Mr. Prentice and Messrs. S. C. Farnham, Boyd & Co. Hoita and Mr. Yoshizawa also drank to the success of the Dock Co. and Mr. Prentice returned thanks.

Commander Sah expressed the thanks of the visitors for the invitation to be present at such an interesting ceremony. He said he would like to see the Emperor of China also building several gunboats for river service. He then proposed the health of Mr. Odagiri. The proceedings terminated after Mr. Von Rucker had proposed the toast of Mrs. Odagiri and the ladies present.—Shanghai Daily Press.

GAS MATTERS.

A COURT CASE.

In the Supreme Court this morning, before the Puisne Judge, His Honour A. G. Wise, the Hongkong and China Gas Co., Ltd., sued Mrs. T. A. Bateman in respect of $21.40 for gas and fittings supplied.

Mr. E. J. Grist, of Messrs. Wilkinson and Grist, appeared for the plaintiff firm, and Mr. J. Hays (of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master), represented the defendant.

At the outset, Mr. Hays complained that he had not seen the particulars of claim, as they had only been sent in at the last moment, and Mr. Grist observed that if he wanted an adjournment he had better apply for it at once.

His Lordship:—I should like to know something about the defence. You are not going into the question of bad gas, are you? (Laughter).

Mr. Hays:—It is a matter of, whether or not, your Lordship can possibly believe that the meter—

His Lordship:—I can believe anything about meters.

Mr. Hays:—You can believe anything about meters?

His Lordship:—Yes, water or gas.

Mr. Hays:—Then it is perfectly possible to imagine that the defendant in this case has been charged with more than—

His Lordship:—The proper course, if you don't think a meter right, is to send and tell the company to test it. If it is found to be wrong then they have to pay the cost. I think it is the same practice here as it is at home. If the meter is right you have to pay.

Mr. Hays:—Not until after it was tested did it read in a normal or sensible way at all. For one month the gas consumed, according to the meter, was no less than five times more than the same month of the previous year, or any one month this year.

His Lordship:—I had exactly the same thing. A man named Collins, who is in bankruptcy now, a cycle manufacturer, stated that in one month the price of his water rose about three times.

Mr. Hays:—It is the amount of gas alleged to have been consumed.

His Lordship:—But we see the same thing regarding water.

Mr. Hays:—I submit that your Lordship sitting in this Court as a jury—if this went to a jury they would unanimously find it absurd to imagine that Mrs. Bateman's house could possibly consume 5,000 feet of gas unless the people turned on all the jets for fun during the day.

His Lordship:—I had to pay when I was not living in a house at all. The Gas Company charged me exactly the same amount, and I was not in the house at all. You had better pay, I think. It is a very hopeless thing fighting water and gas companies, I can tell you.

Mr. Grist pointed out that Mrs. Bateman wrote to Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., the local agents, saying she was perfectly willing to send them a cheque for the outstanding amount, if in their opinion she had not been wrongfully overcharged. She agreed to pay, and could not possibly get over it.

Mrs. Bateman:—Yes, if they could prove I have used that amount.

His Lordship:—Of course, they could prove it.

Mr. Hays:—It is my client's contention that the company have failed to prove it excepting by the idiotic reading of the meter.

Mr. Grist:—The company replied saying the matter has been fully gone into and they really cannot see that she is hurt in any shape or form.

Evidence was then called, and his Lordship eventually gave judgment for plaintiffs, with costs.

THE "NOVOI KRAI" ON THE ALLIANCE WITH GERMANY.

The Novoi Krai being the Russian official organ for the Far East, claims immediate and interested attention when it deals with Russian policy in these waters. We are pleased to be able, therefore, to place before our readers a translation specially made for the Peking and Tientsin Times, of that journal's leading article on November 22nd, the latest date to hand.

The Japanese Press has more than once referred with an increased feeling of alarm at the question of the possibility of a triple alliance or rapprochement between Russia, France and Germany to enlarge their sphere of activity in the Far East. By way of supporting their assertions concerning the triple alliance, they brought forward two proofs, firstly, Count Lamsdorff's journey to Paris, and secondly, the meeting of His Imperial Majesty with the German Emperor at Wiesbaden on the 17th of November. Consequently the Japanese Press was convinced, that the treaty thus entered upon between the three Powers was directed against Japan. An example of which she had already witnessed in the year 1895, when these Powers combined to deprive Japan of the fruits of her victories gained in the China-Japan War.

In the confused imagination of the Japanese the slightest cloud on their political horizon assumed the gigantic proportions of a coalition of the European Powers against the Japanese way in Corea.

But, what a grave error the Japanese Press is making! The fact is, that an alliance with Germany for united action in the Far East would be far from advantageous to Russia.

It seems to us, that we can prophesy, with a great probability of our prophecy turning out correct, that the occasion of an alliance between Germany, France and Russia, will mark the completion of a revolution in the politics of the Near East which will extend even to the Far East. It must not be forgotten at this point, that the Near East and Far East have many ties in common. An alliance between Russia and Germany in affairs pertaining to the Near East and the Far East, could only be effected to the detriment of England, as even the Japanese Press has observed, and the vital interests of Russia and England at the present day coincide in many ways not only in the Far, but also in the Near East, which we are not obliged to go into fully. Far-sighted people thoroughly understand this matter, but unfortunately, the question is still insufficiently clear to the Japanese.

In order, possibly, to throw a little light on this question and to signify to the Japanese Press itself the groundlessness of their alarm, we shall endeavour to give a short sketch of German colonial policy up to the present time in the Near East.

Japan, as the representative of Buddhism, cannot understand quite clearly the rôle of Russia, as protectress of her Christian co-religionists in the Near East. This protection is perhaps far more important than the protection of the Yellow Race, preached at the present time by Japan. That is why Russia considers it a sacred duty to perform her mission in the Near East. But with the appearance of Germany on this arena the position of Russia there was entirely changed. The Emperor William, with great foresight seized the opportunity, when England was occupied in the Transvaal, to strike a painful blow at not only England, but also Russia in the politics of the Near East. On the 27th of November, 1899, a triumph of the German Bank was announced, on the occasion of obtaining a concession in the Bagdad Railway, and on the 24th of November in the same year Germany signed an agreement with England in reference to the annexation of Samoa and liberty of action in Asia Minor, which was welcomed by Count Liow in his speech, as a means of organizing "eingrössers Deutschland."

Although the whole of Windsor was transported with joy at the visit of the German Emperor to London during a critical moment in the political life of England, but now, when England has slowly begun to grasp the situation and to see that it is not Russia who is threatening to advance upon India, but Germany by means of her Bagdad Railway, the relations between England and Germany have become estranged. For Russia the Bagdad Railway appears not only to threaten the activity of the mighty Siberian Railway, but this new railway will bring to naught the sacred obligations of Russia in Palestine and Syria, and will likewise paralyse her commercial progress in Asia Minor. The Japanese Press demonstrates, among other things, the possibility of the triple alliance being broken by us and also that the Russian Press (the St. Petersburg Press) has frequently referred to it rather feelingly. But we suppose that this has resulted from the slight acquaintance of the St. Petersburg Press with the real state of affairs in the Far East and the impossibility to negotiate questions of the Far East in the tranquillity of St. Petersburg Cabinets.

Would that we were proved to be mistaken, but it is impossible for us to keep silence amid the hubbub and confusion that accompany abuses. We, by virtue of our loyal devotion to the Throne and our own fatherland, without hypocrisy, support our actions, and we say with conviction, that if Russia and France were to enter into an alliance with Germany in the Far East, this rapprochement would be advantageous to Germany alone. We, the great adherents of those who endeavour to maintain a peaceful attitude in political conflicts at any cost in whatever light we view it, cannot welcome the new trend in the strengthening of good relations between Russia and Germany. All the more if it appeared as the result of the interview between the Emperor of Germany and our monarch the Mighty Promoter of the idea of a general disarmament, but the life of the East, reviewed by us here, in all its nakedness, points rather to the possibility of another triple alliance—France, England and Russia. The foundation for this has rested for a long time on the Franco-Russian alliance. The walls of this political edifice have already been constructed in view of the Anglo-French Agreement. Russia is waiting to put the finishing touch to this building. And we might mention, that the probabilities of this are beginning to appear for, if we believe the Gaulois, France has already offered, with the co-operation of England to put pressure on Japan with the object of terminating the Russo-Japanese conflict.—P. & T. Times.

THE TIMBER TRADE.

The syndicate of Chinese timber merchants formed in Hongkong for the purpose of importing timber into the Colony from Australia, is losing no time in getting operations pushed on in the Northern Territory. According to the local Gazette Mr. Hamilton, the active representative at Port Darwin of the syndicate, left for the scene of timber cutting operations—Bowen Straits—on the 6th ult. In a small lugger belonging to C. J. Fitzner. So far as could be learnt timber cutting operations are being vigorously carried on, but the work of getting the cut timber into the water is hampered by the want of teams, and to meet this difficulty orders have been given locally for the construction of some proper timber carriages. As soon as a cargo is ready a large steamer is to be sent down from Hongkong by the before mentioned syndicate to take delivery at Bowen Straits, and the future development of the industry will depend to a very great extent upon the financial outcome of this initial shipment.

According to later advices, the timber export experiment in that neighbourhood is progressing apace, and a full cargo of logs would now have been in readiness for shipment had better facilities been on hand for getting the timber into the water. Up to the end of last month only one team has been engaged in this work, with the result that many logs still remain where they were felled. It is believed, however, that improvements are about to be made in this respect, and that the construction of one or two proper timber wagons is being carried out by a local firm. It is stated that over 2,000 logs have been cut, consisting for the main part of cypress pine. It is presumed that until a full shipment is actually in the water, and in readiness to be towed off, no steamer will be sent from Hongkong, and if the first shipment is to be made before the setting in of the wet season there would appear to be no time to lose.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

A meeting of the active membership of the European department was held last evening at the Hongkong Christian Union Rooms, Heaconsfield Arcade, under the presidency of H. E. The Officer Administering the Government, Hon. F. H. May, C.M.G., for the purpose of completing the organization. The constitution proposed the metropolitan form, providing for various distinct departments—European, Chinese, &c.—under one board of directors, was adopted. The following strong committee of management was appointed to work out the details of the European department, viz., Messrs J. H. W. Armstrong, J. Dyer Ball, H. D. Bell, A. S. D. Cousland, P. H. Holyoak, H. Hursthouse, A. J. Mackie, R. S. Piercy, W. A. Sims, H. W. Slade, S. T. Wenborn, G. E. Woodward and W. J. Wright. At a subsequent meeting this committee elected its officers, as follows:—chairman, Mr. J. Dyer Ball; vice-chairman, Mr. P. H. Holyoak; treasurer, Mr. H. W. Slade; and recording secretary, Mr. H. D. Bell.

The following gentlemen comprise the board of directors of the association in general, having been elected at a previous meeting:—H. E. F. H. May, C.M.G. (president), Hon. H. F. Pollock, K.C., Mr. H. W. Slade, Major Benson, A.P.D., Messrs P. H. Holyoak, W. J. Anstey, R.N., Ho U Ming, A. Ah Wee and W. J. Southam (general secretary). It is expected that the fine commodious rooms of the Association, in the new Alexandra Building, at the junction of Des Vaux and Chater Roads, will be ready for occupation on the 1st March, and it is needless to say, that those interested in the organization rejoice in the excellent promise there is of its complete success.

THE S.S. "MANCHURIA."

A Philadelphia wire of October 31st says:—The steamer Manchuria, built for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, stuck on the ways as she was being launched to-day at the New York Shipbuilding Company's yard in Camden, N. J. Every effort was made to launch the vessel, but without success. At noon the tide had receded and it was found necessary to postpone the launching.

The Manchuria is a sister ship to the Mongolia, which was launched on July 25, and which is now nearly ready for her trial trip. The Manchuria, with the Mongolia, was first laid down for the Atlantic Transport Company. During the construction, however, they were sold to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, and are intended to run between San Francisco, Hawaii, China and Japan. The dimensions of the Manchuria are 625 feet over all, 65 feet beam, with a displacement of 16,530 tons and dead weight carrying capacity of 14,000 tons. Her indicated horse-power will be about 12,000, and the average speed will be about 16 knots.

THE ACCIDENT TO LORD KITCHENER.

KITCHENER.

DETAILS OF HOW IT OCCURRED.

The following telegrams to the Madras Mail, dated the 16th ult., give fuller details of the accident to Lord Kitchener: Simla was greatly excited this morning at the news that Lord Kitchener had sustained an accident last night, breaking his leg. It appears that the Commander-in-Chief rode out alone to "Wild Flower Hall," his residence at Mahasu, about six miles from Simla. Returning in the evening he was passing through the small tunnel near Sanjoli Bazaar when his horse became restive and he collided against the side of the tunnel, breaking his leg clean above the ankle, both bones being broken. He lay for some little time in the tunnel, helpless, until some coolies luckily came along with an empty riksha in which he was brought back to Simla. Here he was at once attended at "Snowdon" by Colonel Tate and Majors Clark and Greene, the Civil Surgeons, who set his leg. He had a good night and is cheerful and doing well, but his four arrangements are, naturally, all cancelled, and he is unlikely to be able to leave Simla for a month or so. His horse is a particularly quiet animal which he brought from South Africa and has constantly ridden on the hills. The tunnel is by no means a pleasant one to ride through, and there have often been complaints as to its insufficient lighting. Further details of the accident show that the Chief had ridden his horse dozens of times through the tunnel. On this occasion the horse shied at a coolie crouching against the side. Lord Kitchener caught his leg against a beam, twisting and breaking it. The coolie appears to have bolted in fright, as did some others who, on approaching the tunnel, heard that the man hurt within was the great Lord of War. Lord Kitchener was for over half an hour suffering in the tunnel, but a second lot of coolies went out from Sanjoli Bazaar with a riksha and brought the Chief in.

Later—Lord Kitchener passed a fairly good day, but is suffering a lot of pain as the leg was much bruised and the wrench was a severe one. The next few days will be trying ones. He is wonderfully cheerful under the circumstances, and it is hoped, will be able to travel to Calcutta about Christmas. The bones were broken, clean without any complications or fractures, and the doctors are hopeful that the recovery will be a good one.

Point, November 17th.—In consequence of the accident to Lord Kitchener on Saturday last, the visit to Poona and his engagements here have all been cancelled. Colonel Wickham, the Director-General of Transport, and the other principal officers who had arrived to meet him here, will depart. Great disappointment is felt in Poona, as it was confidently believed that Lord Kitchener would have distributed the prizes at the Rides Meeting, which opens to-morrow.

UNOFFICIAL MEMBERS OF COUNCIL.

In a despatch to the Ceylon Government in reply to a motion passed in connection with the appointment of unofficial members of the Executive Council, Mr. Chamberlain wrote:—It is hardly necessary to remind you that the change which you recommend is not supported by the analogy of the Government of India, nor by that of the Straits Settlements. It is true that in the case of Hongkong it was decided in 1896 to place two Unofficial Members upon the Executive Council, but my reason for agreeing to this step was stated as follows:—'Whilst most of the larger Crown Colonies possess one or more Municipal Councils subordinate to the Colonial Government, in Hongkong there is no such institution. Moreover, it seems impracticable to alter this state of things. . . . This being so, in my opinion the most practicable course is to recognize that the Colonial Government is discharging Municipal duties and that on that account representatives of the citizens may fairly be given a place on the Executive.' I need hardly say that the special circumstances which justified the inclusion of Unofficial Members in the Executive Councils of Hongkong and Mauritius are absent in the case of Ceylon.

THE WEATHER.

The following report is from Mr. F. G. Figg, acting Director of the Hongkong Observatory:—
On the 10th at 11.35 a.m. the barometer has risen slightly over E. Japan, fallen a little over W. Japan, S. China and the Philippines. The depression, lying in the NE. part of the Sea of Japan yesterday, has passed to the Pacific.
A shallow area of low pressure lies over the Philippines and adjacent water.
Pressure is highest over Mid-China.
Gradients continue slight on the China coast with moderate monsoon in the Formosa Channel. In the China Sea gradients are moderate with strong monsoon, which is probably of gale force, over the NE. part.
Forecast:—moderate NE. winds; fine.
